Armenian team increases the gap

Today we start with men who offered again a real spectacle in all matches on the top. Armenia cashed 3 points against Cuba in a very convincing way and now is 2 points ahead of two teams behind them. These are Russia, who drew with Czech Republic but in a lucky way, since Morozevich managed to convert his losing position into a full point, and Ukraine after beating Sweden with 3:1. The most interesting and beautiful game in these tables was Navara's win against Svidler which will be annotated tomorrow.

Four teams are half a point behind: Georgia, France, USA and China. They were all winners yesterday. Most efficient was China who cashed 3,5 points against Philippines. USA and France won 3:1 against Denmark and Netherlands – it seems that Dutch players still didn't recover from yesterday's shock – while Georgia defeated Uzbekistan with 2,5:1,5.

Another lucky team was Germany. They made 2,5 points against Belarus, but only when Naiditsch managed to convert a losing endgame into a full point. They are now on same number of points as Czech Republic.

Three more teams among the first twelve are: India, Uzbekistan and Cuba. Only India was successful, 2,5:1,5 against Bulgaria, while other two teams lost to Bulgaria and Armenia.

The standing on the top is now: Armenia 24,0, Russia and Ukraine 22,0, Georgia, France, USA and China 21,5, Germany and Czech Republic 21,0, Uzbekistan, India and Cuba 20,5 points and so on.

Two out of three Italian teams won today. «B» team 2,5:1,5 against Finland and «C» team 3:1 against Barbados, but «A» team lost to Estonia with 1:3. It is interesting that after eight rounds «B» team has 17,5 points, one point more than «A» and «C» team who are on 16,5.

Top pairings for round 9 are: Ukraine-Armenia, Russia-France, Georgia-China, USA-Czech Republic, Germany-Cuba and India-Uzbekistan. One more interesting pairing is Italy «C»-Italy «A»!

Status quo by women. Russia, followed by Ukraine, are still in clear lead with 2,0 and respectively 1,5 points more than their escort.

Russia met yesterday USA. Some twenty years ago it would have been a great event, but now it's a match like any other. Russian top board, Kosteniuk got a rest day, so two sisters Kosintseva were pushed forward. Tatiana won, but Nadezhda was «krushed» and with a draw on board three, the final result was 1,5:1,5.

Ukraine defeated Hungary with 2:1. They lost on board one in a game with a lot of turnovers which means that they missed a chance to take the lead. Georgia and Bulgaria played 1,5:1,5, Vietnam won 2.1 against Slovenia, China cashed all three points against Latvia and joined the top again, Romania and France drew, Armenia and Germany won against India and Slovakia with the same result 2:1.

It was a bad day for Italian teams who lost both 0,5:2,5, «A» team to Kazakhstan and «B» team to Finland.

The standing on the top is now: Russia 19,0, Ukraine 18,5, USA and China 17,0, Georgia 16,5, Hungary, Bulgaria and Vietnam 16,0, Slovenia, Armenia and Germany 15,5 points.

Top pairings in round nine are: China-Russia, USA-Ukraine, Hungary-Georgia, Bulgaria-Vietnam, Armenia-Germany and Lithuania-Slovenia.

In the run for trophée «Nona Gaprindashvili» yesterday most successful were China with 6,5 points out of 7 games and Croatia with 6,0 points!

The only team who won all eight matches is – UKRAINE (women)!!!

Exhibition area

Strolling round the vast Olympiad venue it's easy to see that there's more to things than just a lot of people playing chess. On 28 May, for example, you would also have seen the queue of fans in line to have books signed by the legendary Viktor Kortschnoi who, in his mid-seventies, was jovial, communicative and pleasant with everybody.

There is no doubt that much the same scenes will be repeated when the rather younger Vladimir Kramnik signs autographs and has himself photographed with fans on 4 June.

Where do these events happen? In the commercial and exhibition area. There are stands dedicated to selling merchandise and stands that are there for image purposes only and they regard both the chess world and the world outside. FIAT cars occupy a lot of space, for example, and their stand features giant boards, the joy of children and adults alike who want to try their hand at moving the pieces. Then there are the stands of various chess federations, including the Italian, as also those of the two candidates for the FIDE presidential elections: Kirsan Ilyumizhinov and Bessel Kok. After stopping off at the bar you can continue with the Piedmont Regional Authority's tourist point and then move on to watch the games being played by the participants in the computer world championship. Finally we reach the area dedicated to the sale of chess books and chess-related items organised by the celebrated bookshop Le due Torri of Bologna: the lion's share of buyer attention here is still taken by the printed word. Chess literature? Immense: no other sport or game has generated such a quantity of books which analyse, study and teach the specific technique of chess. More and more room, however, is being occupied by the new information systems and we see DVDs and CDs containing analysis of individual stages of the game in general and games by great players in particular. If you are that way inclined, chess-playing software is readily available including the most highly developed databases which you can update from week to week with games played in tournaments all over the world. GMs and IMs grab these as they come out like detectives (or spies), but nowadays even the non-professionals use these resources in order to hone their strategies for beating the opponents they will meet round after round in tournaments. Then there are chess pieces and boards from the normal everyday items to travel sets or those beautiful creations that can be used as decorations at home. On the stands you will find the most disparate objects related to chess, from stamps to ties to T-shirts showing the Chess Olympiad logo. From all over the world, as is only right for an Olympiad.

Antidoping controls at the Chess Olympiad

Chess is also subject to antidoping controls. Chess is recognised as a sport internationally by the IOC (International Olympic Committee) and in Italy by CONI. In fact the Italian Chess Federation is recognised as an associated sports discipline by the Italian Olympic Committee. In this context, chess is also subject to antidoping controls.

It was known before the Olympiad began that the IOC might decide to carry out antidoping controls. Today the playing venue was visited by someone from the Antidoping Committee of the Italian Federation and this suggests that in the next few days a control might be carried out.

Players selected for antidoping controls are simply drawn out of a hat. The arbiter of the match in question is informed and, at the end of the game (so as not to make the player in question nervous during play) he passes the player on to a medical assistant who accompanies him or her to the special area equipped to take blood samples. The control is substantially identical to what happens in sports like football, cycling, skiing, etc...

Our volunteers Who they are

Three hundred friends working for chess. You recognise them by their orange T-shirts. Men and women, the young and the not so young. Always smiling, always there when you need them. Always ready to help, often before their help has been asked for, as they attempt to solve whatever problem is thrown at them, however big or small it may be. With the constant risk of being addressed in some unknown African or Asian language, when it isn't Arabic, Chinese or Japanese. But not even an incomprehensible language is enough to faze them. A smile and a gesture and the problem is on its way to solution. We are talking about the volunteers at the Chess Olympiad.

"We received 450 applications and we selected about 300 of them", explains the coordinator, Cesare Palenzona, a former Fiat manager who is still full of enthusiasm. "Our volunteers are in the main people who have retired or young volunteers from the Youth Department of the Municipality of Turin, but we also have volunteers who have taken a week off work to be here with us".

Many of the volunteers at the Chess Olympiad have already had experience at the Winter Olympics and Paralympics and a lot of them are already thinking of volunteering for the next big events that Turin will be hosting in the months to come.

About a third of the volunteers are women. "But many more would like to be part of this service", says Palenzona. "Often home commitments, children or grandchildren, prevent them playing a part in the various events". Most volunteers are from Turin, many others live on the outskirts, others come from further afield, like the Russian lady who teaches tennis in Bra.

"The volunteers", explains Palenzona, "are people for whom volunteering is a mission, but who, for various reasons, do not have too much time available. Devoting themselves to big events only, they are able to reconcile personal needs with those of the volunteer service".

It should be said that the work of the volunteers is not paid. All they receive is free public transport from home to the place where they are working. There are few limits to the functions of the volunteers: drivers, security officials, spectator and restaurant duty, the secretarial service, assistance to journalists in the press room as well as to the members of the various international delegations.

1.e4 c5 2.Nf3 Nc6 3.Bb5 e6 4.0-0 [4.Bxc6 bxc6 5.e5 with the idea to restrain Bc8 and/or to provoke some structural weaknesses is also possible.] 4...Nge7 5.c3 [A different approach is 5.Re1 a6 6.Bxc6 Nxc6 7.d4 cxd4 8.Nxd4 where White accepts to enter the open sicilian after the exchange of light squared bishop for one of the knights. The idea is that Black might be missing that knight for the protection of his king. The text move shows that White doesn't want to play an open sicilian, but his intention is to create a full centre being able to retake on d4 with the pawn. Of course, such a choice is a pure matter of taste.] 5...a6 6.Ba4 [Another possibility is 6.Be2! d5 7.exd5 Nxd5 8.d4 cxd4 (8...Be7 9.c4 Nf6 10.dxc5 Bxc5 11.Qxd8+ Kxd8 12.Nc3 Ke7 13.Rd1 Rd8 14.Rxd8 Nxd8 15.a3² was slightly better for White in Kasparov-Kramnik/Paris/Rapid/1995) 9.Nxd4 Nxd4 10.Qxd4 Bd7 11.Bf3² with some advantage in Kramnik-Miladinovic/Beograd/1995] 6...b5 7.Bc2 Bb7 8.Qe2 Ng6 9.d4 cxd4 10.cxd4 Be7 [Looking in database it seems that 10...Nh4 is considered to be the main line in these days and here are some examples: 11.Rd1 White prefers his knight on c3 so he defends d4 with the rook. 11...Nxf3+ (11...Rc8 12.Nxh4 Qxh4 13.Nc3 Be7 (13...Bb4 14.a4 bxa4 15.Rxa4 a5 16.Qb5 Nd8 17.d5 e5 18.Be3 0-0 19.Qxd7 Ba6 20.Bd3 Bxd3 21.Rxd3 Rb8 22.g3 Qh5 23.Qf5 Qxf5 24.exf5 Nb7 25.Ne4 Nd6 26.Rxb4 Rxb4 27.Nxd6 Rd8 28.Bc5 Rxb2 29.Ne4 Rb5 30.d6 Rd7 31.f6 a4 32.Ra3 Ra5 33.Bb6 1-0 Kobalia,M-Raetsky,A/Biel SUI 2005/The Week in Chess (33)) 14.Be3 0-0 15.f3 Na5 16.Bd3 Qh5 17.Bf2 Rfe8 18.Nb1 d5 19.e5 f6 20.Nd2 Nc4 21.Nf1 fxe5 22.dxe5 Bc5 23.Bxc5 Rxc5 24.Rac1 Rec8 25.Re1 Qh4 26.b3 Nb6 27.Rxc5 Rxc5 28.Qf2 Qxf2+ 29.Kxf2 d4 1/2-1/2 Adams,M-Lautier,J/Wijk aan Zee 2002.) 12.Qxf3 Rc8 13.Nc3 Qf6 (The critical test for the whole variation seems to be 13...d5! 14.exd5 (14.

[Here is one more win of Dutch GM in this line: 11.Rd1 0-0 12.d5 exd5 13.exd5 Na5 14.a4 b4 15.b3 Re8 16.Qd3 Rc8 17.Ra2 Rc5 18.Qf5 Qa8 19.Be4 Nxb3 20.Be3 Bf6 21.Bxc5 Nxc5 22.Nbd2 d6 23.Re1 Re7 24.Qh5 Qe8 25.Rb1 Nxe4 26.Rxb4 Nxd2 27.Nxd2 Bc3 0-1 Senff,M-Nijboer,F/Dieren NED 2005.; or 11.a4 Nb4 12.Bb3 bxa4 13.Bxa4 0-0 14.Nc3 f5 15.e5 Nd5 16.Nxd5 Bxd5 17.Bd2 Qc7 18.Rfc1 Qb7 19.b3 Bd8 20.Qe3 Rf7 21.b4 Bb6 22.Bc3 Ne7 23.Bd1 Bc6 24.Be2 Nd5 25.Qd2 h6 26.h4 Bd8 27.Rcb1 Nc7 28.h5 Rf8 29.Ne1 Bg5 30.f4 Be7 0-1 Krivorodov,E-Czarnota,P/Moscow (Russia) 2006.] 11...0-0 12.g3 With an obvious idea to restrain Ng6, but this kind of move which weakens a8-h1 diagonal is always committing. [It looks more natural to do something to develop his queenside, let's say 12.Be3 Na5 13.Nd2 and if 13...f5 then one possible variation could be 14.exf5 exf5 15.Rae1 f4 16.Bxg6 fxe3 17.Qxe3 Bg5 18.f4 Bh4 19.g3 hxg6 20.gxh4 Qxh4 21.Qg3 where White might be slightly better.] 12...Rc8 [12...Qb6 13.Be3 Na5 14.Rad1 Nc4 15.Bc1 Rac8 16.h4 b4 17.Na4 Qa5 18.d5 Bf6 19.Bb3 exd5 20.exd5 Rfe8 21.Qd3 Nge5 22.Nxe5 Nxe5 23.Qf5 Qd8 24.Qf4 d6 25.Qxb4 Qd7 26.Kg2 Rb8 27.Qf4 a5 28.Rfe1 Bc8 29.Rh1 Rb4 30.Rd4 Nd3 31.Rxd3 Rxf4 32.Bxf4 Be5 33.Bxe5 Rxe5 34.Nc3 Qe7 35.Bd1 Bf5 36.Rd2 h6 37.Bf3 g5 38.Rd4 Re1 39.Rxe1 Qxe1 40.hxg5 hxg5 41.g4 Bd7 42.Re4 Qd2 43.Re7 Qxb2 44.Rxd7 Qxc3 45.Rxd6 Kf8 46.Ra6 Ke7 47.Ra7+ Kd6 48.Rxf7 Qa3 49.Rf6+ Ke7 50.Re6+ Kd7 51.Re2 Qb4 52.Re5 Qd2 53.Re2 Qd4 1/2-1/2 Sanz Alonso,F-Merino Garcia,R/Torrevieja 1997.] 13.Rd1 Na5 Now with this knight threatening to jump on c4, it is not so easy anymore to develop Bc1. 14.Bd3 f5!? Sharpening the position as much as possible, but this could easily be the strongest move in this position using somewhat shaky position of Nf3. 15.d5 [15.exf5 exf5 16.d5 (16.Ne5 Nxe5 17.dxe5 Qc7 intending 18...Qc6 would be really embarrassing for White) 16...Qb6 17.Be3 (17.Ng5 b4 18.Na4 Qd6 looks also good for Black) 17...Bc5 18.Bxc5 Qxc5] 15... Qe8 Escaping from Rd1. After [15... fxe4 16.Bxe4 b4 17.Na4 [poor Tarrasch, it would be interesting to hear his comment about these knights on the edge of the board.] 17...Bxd5 18.Bxd5 exd5 19.Ne5 Nxe5 20.Qxe5 Nc4 21.Qxd5+ Kh8 22.Qxd7 Bf6 23.Rb1 and in spite of his very active pieces it's not easy for Black to prove that he has enough compensation for a pawn.] 16.exf5 It is better not to open too much this position since Black is much more developed. [After, let's say 16.dxe6 dxe6 17.exf5 exf5 18.Nd4 b4 19.Qe6+ (19.Nb1 looks really owfull) 19...Kh8 20.Nd5 Bc5 21.Bxa6 Bxa6 22.Qxa6 Bxd4 23.Rxd4 Ra8 Black wins the exchange in all variations: 24.Qd3 (or 24.Qf1 Nb3) 24...Nc6] 16...exf5 17.Nd4 White goes for a pawn still postponing to develop his queenside. 17...Bc5 18.Nxf5 [Or 18.Qxe8 Rxe8 19.Nxf5 Ne5 20.Be3 [is possible since Bc5 is not defended anymore.] 20...Bb4 21.Bc2 Nac4 22.a3 Bxc3 23.bxc3 g6 and White would be in trouble.] 18...Qxe2 19.Nxe2 Ne5 Playing for initiative, while [19... Bxd5 20.Be3 Bc4 21.Bxc5 Rxc5 22.Ne3 Ne5 23.Nxc4 Naxc4 24.b4 would have been just equal.] 20.Ne3 [Or 20.Be4 Ng4 21.Ned4 Rce8 with an unpleasant pressure for a pawn.] 20...Nac4 [20...Nxd3 21.Rxd3 Nc4 was also good for Black.] 21.Bxc4 bxc4 22.b4?! An unfortunate idea to develop Bc1 in such a way. [22.Bd2 runs into 22...Bxd5; 22.Nf4 invites 22...g5; so the best move seems to be 22.Nc3 followed by 23.Rb1 and some chances to untangle.] 22... Ba7 23.Bb2 move was the simple [23...Nd3 24.Bd4 Rxf2 25.Bxa7 (25.Rxd3 Rxe2 26.Nxc4 Bxd5 27.Bxa7 Rg2+ 28.Kh1 Rxa2+) 25...Rxe2

and with such a weak king White should be completely lost. 26.Rdb1] 24.Kxf2 Ng4+ 25.Ke1 Nxe3 26.Nc3? This gives back material without resistance. Other possibilities were: [26.Rdc1 Ng2+ 27.Kd1 (27.Kf1 is now wrong because of 27...Rf8+ 28.Kxg2 Rf2+ 29.Kh3 Rxe2) 27... Be3 28.Rc3 Bxd5 29.Ra3 Bf3 and Black is winning, but; 26.Rd2 Ng2+ 27.Kf1 (27.Kd1 Ne3+) 27...Ne3+ would have probably ended with a repetition of moves.] 26...Re8! 27.Kd2 Nxd1 28.Rxd1 Rf8 29.Kc2 Rf2+ 30.Kb1? Now White is definitely lost. [30.Rd2 was necessary to continue with the fight, although it is clear that Black has good chances for a win due to his two bishops and a vulnerability of Pd5.] 30...Rxxh2 31.a4 Rg2 32.b5 axb5 33.Nxb5 Rg1 34.Rxg1 Bxg1 35.d6 h5 36.a5 Bh2 37.Be5 h4 There is no more defence against the march of the h pawn. 38.Nd4 h3 39.Ne2 Bf3 40.Nf4 Bxg3 0-1

Border Prizes

Players assigned to the same board number in their respective team lists shall be in competition for individual board prizes namely: gold, silver and bronze medals. For the purposes of this award, the player's percentage score from their games shall be compared. If the percentage score is equal, the tie shall be broken by (a) the number of games, and if this is also equal by (b) the average rating of the opponents.

Only the following shall be eligible for board prizes:

In general competition: players number 1-4 who take part in at least 8 rounds; players numbered 5-6 who take part in at least 7 rounds.

In women's competition: players numbered 1-3 who take part in at least 8 rounds; players numbered 4 who take part in at least 7 rounds.
